The California Department of Transportation (Caltrans) and Orange County Transportation Authority (OCTA) are building a bridge along the intersection of Imperial Highway and Esperanza Road/Orangethorpe Avenue in the County of Orange. Work to improve travel on Imperial Highway in the cities of Anaheim and Yorba Linda is expected to begin the week of February 12, 2007.

Improvements will include:

- Constructing a bridge that will separate vehicle traffic from Burlington Northern Santa Fe and Metrolink train traffic
- Elevating a section of Imperial Highway and increasing the number of lanes to match the existing number on either side of the intersection
- Adding a general purpose lane for northbound and southbound traffic
- Installation of new soundwalls and retaining walls
- Improving drainage facilities
- Reducing the need for train warning horns

This open house provides the public with an opportunity to interact with project team members about the project benefits, planned construction, and the proposed plan to manage traffic during construction.
